Japanese War Crime Trials Are Scheduled for January

MacArthur Staff Counsel Says Nippon's War Criminals Must Be Shown as Ordinary Fellows of Lowest Type

Tokyo, Dec. 7 (AP)—Chief Prosecutor Joseph B. Keenan announced today that the first war crimes trials in Japan tentatively were scheduled for January—with Warlord Hideki Tojo and his Pearl Harbor cabinet leading the parade of defendants.

"The accused will be presumed innocent until proved guilty," Keenan, General MacArthur's special staff counsel, told a news conference. But he added that:

"Japanese war criminals must be punished and humiliated so that they will go down in history as ordinary felons of the lowest type."

He declined comment on the Allied attitude toward Emperor Hirohito.

The death penalty will be asked at the trials, he indicated.

He said he found President Truman and General MacArthur to be in accord on questions affecting trial procedure and on the requirement that trials be concluded as rapidly as possible.

Like their German counterparts, Japanese war crimes suspects will be tried in groups. An international court seems likely, since other interested powers have been asked to nominate members. None has complied thus far, Keenan reported.

On top of General MacArthur's order for the arrest of Marquis Koichi Kido, the arrival of Keenan in Japan brought full realization to the Nipponese that the Allies mean business in rooting out aggressors. The order against Kido reached as close to the throne as MacArthur could get without arresting Emperor Hirohito himself.

Even before Nippon could recover from the shock of the MacArthur order for the arrest of Kido, who was lord keeper of the Privy Seal and Hirohito's closest adviser, Prince Fumiaro Konoye and seven others, there came two more explosive developments:

Edwin W. Pauley, U. S. reparations commissioner, recommended confiscation of all Japanese assets abroad, including those of the Emperor; removal from the country of the industrial potentials of the zaibatsu (family monopoly); and huge slashes in shipbuilding, steel production and generation of electric power.

Orders Removal of Resources

MacArthur ordered the removal from Japan of every mineral resource which might permit development of the atomic bomb.

The Tokyo newspaper Ashai, in reporting the order for the arrests of Kido and Konoye, said the directive is expected to "exert considerably serious consequences on the political situation of this country."

"By virtue of the present arrest directive, the leaders, including Prince Konoye and Marquis Kido, who for years served the throne, will disappear from political circles," Asahi declared.

"As a result, the ripples to be caused to political circles cannot be slighted."

Outlining preliminary plans for the trials—which will involve more than 250 war crimes suspects—Keenan said that the groups of defendants would be built around time periods in which they were active. They will go back to July, 1937, when the China war started.

Keenan said trials probably would be free and open. The accused would be given fair notice of charges against them so that they might prepare for trial either through their own counsel, if desired, or appointed counsel.

Asked what penalties could be expected, he replied that every civilized country has a penalty that fits the offense of persons whose acts mean loss of life to innocent people—a strong indication that the prosecution will ask for death.

Yamashita Will Die For Condoning Act Of Jap Soldiers

Verdict Is Read, Tells General Crimes Were Supervised by Officers

Manila, Dec. 7 (AP) — Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita has a date with the hangman.

A five-general military commission today convicted the former Japanese commander of the Philippines of having permitted "a series of atrocities and high crimes by Japanese armed forces under your command" and passed the death sentence.

Those brutalities "were not sporadic incidents, but were often methodically supervised by Japanese officers and noncommissioned officers," Maj. Gen. Russell B. Reynolds, president of the commission, stated as he read the verdict.

Yamashita thus became the first top war criminal of the Pacific to be convicted and sentenced.

Before hearing the verdict, the stocky defendant stood, visibly nervous, while an interpreter read this statement to the court:

"I wish to stand here today with a clear conscience and swear to God I am innocent of these charges. I wish to take this opportunity to express gratitude to the United States officers of the defense, brilliant and upright officers. I want to thank the commission for a fair trial."

As the interpreter spoke, Yamashita nervously removed his wrist watch, wound it fumblingly.

When the commission was ready to pronounce sentence, the three-star general was led before the bench, with his chief counsel, Col. Harry E. Clarke.

Reynolds intoned:

"This commission finds that a series of atrocities and high crimes were committed by Japanese armed forces under your command against nationals of the United States and its Allies and dependencies, that these were not sporadic incidents, but were often methodically supervised by Japanese officers and noncommissioned officers.

"During the period in question you failed to provide effective control of your troops as required by the circumstances. Accordingly, on a secret ballot, two-thirds or more of this commission concurring, this commission finds you guilty as charged and sentences you to death by hanging."

His Shoulders Sag

Yamashita's shoulders sagged as he heard the sentence, but he straightened quickly and made a curt bow to the commission. He quickly was led by military police from the courtroom back to his cell in old Bilibid prison.

The entire court procedure required less than 15 minutes.

In Tokyo a few hours before the verdict was read, the general's wife said she had declined suggestions from friends to appeal to Mrs. Douglas MacArthur for "help and justice for my husband."

"The method of justice on the American side is admirably fair," she was quoted by the newspaper Mainichi. "I am pleased with it. I thought my husband should be put on trial naturally because he took command for a long time in the front."

Yamashita, who already has lost an appeal to the Philippines Supreme Court to take jurisdiction of his case and free him from the military trial, still has an appeal to the United States Supreme Court pending and at least three additional appeals to make.

Defense counsel has indicated it will take full advantage of every possibility because the Yamashita case is precedent-setting in international laws. Yamashita was the first Pacific war leader ever to be tried for war crimes.

Will Make Appeal

Yamashita's first appeal will be

Accused of Murder

Paterson, N. J., Dec. 7 (AP)—Accused of killing her husband by chasing him with her automobile, running him down, and pinning him against a cellar door, Mrs. Geneva Humphrey, 47, was held on a murder charge today. Jasper G. Kirchner, assistant to the Passaic county prosecutor, said the husband, Hugh Edwin Humphrey, 43, was killed in an alleyway in nearby Singac early today. The wife was held without bail in First District Criminal Court, Paterson.

Green Says Truman Is Sad Loser

Administration Suffered Humiliating Defeat, History's Greatest, on Diplomatic Front

Tells Republicans

Party, He Says, Must Make Up Its Mind What It Will Do

Chicago, Dec. 7 (AP)—Gov. Dwight H. Green of Illinois charged before the Republican National Committee today that the Truman Administration had "suffered the most humiliating defeat in history" by losing ("every skirmish" on the international diplomatic front.

In a vigorous prepared address possibly presaging his candidacy for G.O.P. presidential nomination in 1948, the Illinois governor asserted that "we have been told that we should not raise our voice against the rape of Java by the British and Dutch for fear of offending some voters."

"We have been told," he said, "we must not even protest against the shameful betrayal of Poland for fear of offending Russia's following over here."

The Republicans must make up their minds in the first peacetime meeting of the national committee in four years, he declared, whether they were going to fish or cut bait.

"We must never condone the suppression of liberty in Poland, in the Baltic States, in the Balkans, or in any nation in Europe, Asia, or elsewhere," he declared, adding:

"It must be our vigorous policy to use the leverage afforded by the discussion of forgiveness of Lend-Lease, or of requests for new loans and every other peaceful means to speed the liberation of the people of these nations."

Speech Is Surprise

The Illinois Governor's aggressive speech came as a surprise to most of the Republican committee members, who had gathered here to approve what most of them regarded as a generalized statement of policies issued by their colleagues of the House and Senate and to hear a report by Herbert Brownell, National committee chairman.

Brownell, who predicted at a news conference yesterday that the G.O.P. would gain control of House and Senate in the 1946 elections, reported to the committee his activities in a 16-page typed document.

The National chairman listed congressional districts from Maine to California in which he said G.O.P. candidates had a chance to be elected next year. He told his colleagues that they must rally behind picked Republican candidates, declaring:

"The stakes, measured in terms of national welfare, are too high in the '46 campaign for us to dissipate our energy in useless primary fights."

In this connection, Brownell pointed out that many organizations were spending more than the $750,000 budget William Murphy, national publicity director, said had been raised for the G.O.P. campaign this year.

Tells of Anglo Spending

The chairman said that $2,143,000 had been spent by the British government in this country for

Marshall Says Stark Thought U. S. Warnings to Pacific Commanders Would Only Serve to Confuse Them

Former Chief of Staff Tells Committee How He Spent December 7, 1941

Stark Acceded

Asked to Have Army Orders Include Navy Officers

Washington, Dec. 7 (AP)—Gen. George C. Marshall told Pearl Harbor investigators today that Admiral Harold R. Stark thought warnings to Pacific commanders on December 7, 1941 would "only confuse them."

So Stark, then chief of naval operations, at first opposed sending such warnings after it became clear that trouble was brewing for the United States that day, Marshall told the Senate-House committee investigating the attack.

Marshall, wartime army chief of staff, testified he called Stark back on the White House telephone, however, and insisted on sending the messages. Then the admiral acceded, Marshall said and asked that the army warnings be amended so that naval officers at Pacific outposts would be advised.

Stark, later naval chief in the European theatre of operations, was a spectator in the hearing room as Marshall testified.

The hearing was late in starting because the committee met in secret session to decide on the relevancy of certain evidence.

Later, Chairman Barkley (D-Ky) said the discussion was about the letter Marshall sent to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, 1944 Republican Presidential candidate, urging him not to disclose during his campaign that the U. S. had cracked Japanese codes before the Pearl Harbor attack, Dewey complied.

Barkley said that exchange would be brought up in later testimony.

Marshall reconstructed for the committee how he spent that fateful morning of December 7 four years ago today.

Find Diplomatic Note

Marshall told the committee that it was not until he reached his office that day that he learned of Japan's final diplomatic note to Secretary of State Hull, indicating a break in relations with the U. S. The note, intercepted and decoded, was sent to Japanese "peace envoys" with instructions to deliver it to Hull at 1 p. m. (Washington time) the hour of the assault on Pearl Harbor.

"On that morning," Marshall related, "I had breakfast, I presume about 8 o'clock, according to the routine of previous Sundays. I went riding.

"I must have ridden later than 8:30. I suppose I read the Sunday papers and then went riding. My rides usually were * * * about 50 minutes.

"While I was taking my shower, word came to me that Col. (R. S.) Bratton had something very important and wished to come to Fort Myer. I told him I was coming to the War Department directly.

"My shower probably took 10 minutes. On my arrival there, Bratton handed me these intercepts. When I reached the end, and its was a long message, some of which I read twice, on the next sheet was the 1 o'clock message.

"That of course was an indication to me of some very definite action—1 o'clock on a Sunday in Washington, involving the Secretary of State was very unusual.

"I called Stark and he said he had seen it.

"I proposed messages to the Pacific commanders. Stark felt we might confuse them. I hung up the White House telephone and wrote out a message in long hand. I had thought that Stark called me back but on checking I find now that I called him back. The effects of our conversation was then that he wished me to add to my messages 'show this to your naval officers.'

"There was some talk of typing the message but the decision was that there was no time to type it. Bratton took the messages and I asked him about the time involved in getting them off. I sent him back for estimates and I sent him and Col. Bundy back a second time to make sure."

Bad Weather Held Back Attack on Low Areas in 1939

Hitler Signed Order Five Weeks After Polish Invasion, Tribunal Hears

Nuernberg, Dec. 7 (AP)—Hitler's armies were poised for the invasion of the low countries and France November 7, 1939, but the attack was postponed week by week for six months because of bad weather, official German records disclosed at the war crimes trial here today.

While the rest of the world spoke sarcastically of "a phony war," the German military machine was ready and "waiting only for favorable weather," according to records introduced before the international military tribunal.

British prosecutors turned most of their evidence against the German military and naval leaders among the 20 top-ranking Hitlerites accused of war criminals, pointing out their part in plans for the crushing invasion while Hitler deceitfully told Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg that he had no plans to attack them.

The fifth column conquest of Norway and Denmark was only a prelude to the invasion a month later of the low countries, the evidence showed.

Prosecutors introduced German naval orders revealing that German war ships and camouflaged troop transports carried British flags and signals to screen the attack on Norway and Denmark.

Hitler signed his directive for attack "as soon as possible" on the low countries on October 9, 1939—five weeks after the invasion of Poland, it was disclosed.

It was not until May 9, 1940, that the final order was issued and the great invasion of the lowlands began the next day.

Doenitz Order Is Read

Read into evidence before the international military tribunal was the order of Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz, commander in chief of the German army, to use British flags on German ships which slipped into Scandinavian ports on the eve of invasion.

The detialed story of treachery and intrigue leading to the downfall of Germany's little neighbors in April, 1940, disclosed that the plot to use the fifth column of Vidkun Quisling in obtaining Scandinavian U-boat base was engineered largely by Grand Admiral Erich Raeder and Alfred Rosenberg, two of the accused Nazis on trial.

Official German navy orders introduced as evidence included instructions that "the disguise as British craft must be kept as long as possible." The German government denied repeatedly in 1940 that their vessels had flown British flags.

All challenges were to be answered with the names of British warships and arrangements were made to illuminate British war flags on the masts of the German vessels, the order disclosed.

"In case of a warning shot (from the enemy) reply 'cease fir-

Roosevelt Memorandum Tells of British Plight

Report Comes From Former President's Secret Files; Marshall Tells of 'Disastrous' Angle for U. S.

Washington, Dec. 6 (AP)—Congressional investigators received from the late President Roosevelt's secret files today a memorandum by Gen. George C. Marshall saying "Britain is reaching limit of usable manpower, we must supplement her forces."

The document bore no date, but Gerhard Gesell, counsel of the joint Senate-House Pearl Harbor Investigating Committee, said it appeared to have been written in the summer of 1941, months before this country entered the war.

The memorandum said Marshall wanted to prepare task forces for air and naval bases in the British Isles and Ireland to "secure, when opportunity offers, additional bases encircling Germany."

The chief of staff's note, which bore marginal notations by Mr. Roosevelt, said it would be "disastrous" to reduce the size of the United States army so that additional war material could be sent to Great Britain and Russia.

Marshall started off with a statement of "basic consideration, national policy," in which he listed "eventual defeat of Germany" as one of the objectives.

"Germany cannot be defeated by supply of munitions to friendly powers and air and naval operations alone," the memorandum said, adding: "Large ground forces will be required."

Marshall recommended rushing the build-up of air power in the Philippines "together with small increases in modern ground army equipment and personnel to restrain Japan from advance into Malaysia or eastern Siberia."

He said task forces should be prepared to hold bases in case Britain collapsed and "for prompt employment against Atlantic islands and Natal region of Brazil" if western hemisphere security was threatened. Marshall set out what he called "immediate requirements." Along the margin on this and on the next page were notes in what Gesell said was the handwriting of President Roosevelt.

As an example, a notation beside a paragraph dealing with

Byrnes Hits Back At Hurley; Says Charges Are Empty

Byrnes Also Takes Crack at Assertion Hurley Could Get No Statement

Washington, Dec. 7 (AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes hit back sharply at Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley today for his attacks on State Department foreign service diplomats, and asserted that Hurley had failed to sustain his charges.

Byrnes appeared before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee which has been looking into the background of Hurley's abrupt and dramatic resignation last week as ambassador to China.

Byrnes specifically upheld the two "career men" whom Hurley has charged with seeking to sabotage his efforts to bring about a unified China while he held the Chungking post. Hurley assailed this conduct as "disloyalty."

The secretary of state told the committee:

"Ambassador Hurley has not furnished me, nor do I understand that he has furnished the committee, any specific evidence to prove that any employe was guilty of such conduct."

Hurley was in the audience as Byrnes began his testimony and listened intently from a front row.

Byrnes also challenged Hurley's assertion that during his service as ambassador to Chungking, he had been unable to get a public statement of American policy toward China from President Truman or Secretary Byrnes or other banking officials.

Appearing before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee which is hearing evidence on Hurley's resignation of the China post last week, Byrnes said that Hurley had never asked him for such a statement nor made a written request for it to the State Department so far as Byrnes had been able to find out.

The secretary said he also asked President Truman whether Hurley requested a China policy statement from him and the President "does not recall such a request."

Byrnes appeared before the committee after Hurley had spent two days attacking State Department career diplomats and specifically accusing George Atcheson and John Service, formerly on duty in China, of having worked against Hurley's efforts to unify the Chinese Central Government and the Chinese Communists.

Byrnes said that "in my opinion, based upon the information which has thus far been presented to me, there is nothing" in documents written by Atcheson and Service while in China "to support the charge that either Mr. Atcheson or Mr. Service was guilty of the slightest disloyalty to his superior officers."

The secretary of state declared that while every American foreign service officer must administer "the declared policy of his government" he should "not hesitate to express his views" when he believes changed conditions require it.

Before Byrnes opened his testimony, Chairman Tom Connally (D., Tex.) said Hurley would be recalled before a subsequent session of the committee to amplify his contention that Undersecretary of State Dean Acheson "defeated" American foreign policy in Iran.

Murder Charges Are Filed Against Two

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Dec. 7 (AP)—Dutchess County District Attorney John R. Schwartz said today second degree manslaughter charges had been filed against two attendants at Hudson River State Hospital in the death yesterday of a patient, Michael Pennick, 43, of Troy, N. Y.

Schwartz identified the attendants as Cecile O. Biddle, 48, and Frank C. Graham, 28, both of Poughkeepsie.

Dr. Edgar F. Powell, deputy county medical examiner, said Pennick suffered multiple fractures of the sternum and ruptured thyroid cartilages.

The attendants were held pending a hearing later today.

Victory Loan Tops Goal

Washington, Dec. 7 (AP)—The Treasury today announced, with little fanfare, that the Victory Loan had gone over the top of its $14,000,000,000 goal. The lack of enthusiasm over bond sales totaling $12,288,000,000 — including corporation purchases of $8,076,000,000 and individual purchases of $4,212,000,000—stemmed from the fact that only $3,165,000,000 was in E Bonds. The E Bond goal is $7,000,000,000.

Hull Endorses U. S. Loan To Britain as Peace Step

U.A.W. Rejects Offer by G.M.

Afternoon Conference Is Arranged; Hourly Increase Spurned

Detroit, Dec. 7 (AP)—An air of optimism for early settlement of auto industry wage disputes continued to pervade Detroit today despite union rejection of another General Motors offer.

The C.I.O. United Auto Workers again sent its top officials into conference with the corporation (2 P. M. EST), whose offer of a 13½ cents an hour increase was turned down yesterday at the first regular negotiating session since the vast G.M. strike was called November 21.

H. W. Anderson, General Motors vice president, termed the proposal a "reinstatement" of the pre-strike offer of approximately 10 per cent, which he said would boost wages of G.M. workers to 30 per cent above the January, 1941, level.

However, Walter P. Reuther, U.A.W. vice president, estimated it would raise the average rate of $1.15 an hour by 11.7 per cent and described it as "a better offer than the one made prior to the strike."

Union officials, still demanding 30 per cent above present levels and within the present price structure, said the company's refusal to discuss "ability to pay" provided the chief stumbling block as the wage parleys resumed.

"They would not argue whether or not they are able to pay it (the 30 per cent)," U.A.W.-C.I.O. President R. J. Thomas declared.

A General Motors spokesman had listed the union's insistence on using "assumed ability to pay" as a basis for bargaining and its "illegal" picketing methods as the

Says Nation May Have Last Chance Now to Make Abiding Peace

Washington, Dec. 7 (AP)—Former Secretary of State Cordell Hull today endorsed the Anglo-American loan and trade deal as a step in building world peace.

In a statement issued through the State Department, Hull declared that the nation may be now confronted with its "final opportunity to make a peace that will last."

He said that through the American government's policy to grant Britain a $4,400,000,000 loan and Britain's agreement to work for freer international trade, "our country is taking another long step forward to build a better world by profiting from the bitter lessons of the past."

"I feel," he continued, "that this may be our final opportunity to make a peace that will last. I believe the government's overall plans released yesterday set forth the prerequisites to economic prosperity and improved standards of living in our own and all other countries.

"I have high hopes that the United States will play its full part in bringing about the conditions necessary for full prosperity and lasting peace."

Hull's statement was issued as the administration marshaled its arguments behind the big credit offer to Britain, convinced that any major congressional change would imperil hopes for Anglo-American trade cooperation.

The two governments climaxed three months of diplomatic talks yesterday by announcing a broad economic agreement tied to financial help from this country.

That help under the agreement would come from a $3,750,000,000 cash loan and a $650,000,000 settlement for postwar lend-lease and war surpluses. Both would be re-

J. F. Dulles Suggests Policy Of Help for Every Nation

New York, Dec. 7 (AP)—John Foster Dulles, who was advisor to Secretary of State Byrnes at the London conference, said today the United States should adopt a "simple, publicly-defined policy" towards extension of material aid to other nations, in order to avoid ill-will.

"The inevitable disappointment of many hopes could make us the object of well-nigh universal jealousy and dislike," he said. "That sort of spiritual isolation involves danger from which no world organization, no armament, could protect us."

In an address prepared for delivery before the National Association of Manufacturers, Dulles said:

"When pleas are pouring in from every quarter of the world, we should not seem to be capricious, nor should we expose ourselves to a charge of unfriendliness if we do not do for all what we do for one. We shall increase ill will unless we have some simple, publicly-defined policy.

"It will not satisfy all, but it should make sufficient sense so that even disappointed peoples will appreciate why we do what we do. Then at least we may retain their respect."

Dulles said he believed there was a "severe limit to the material aid which our government ought to extend."

"A member of the British government told me he had calculated that about one-half of our productive capacity would, adequately serve our domestic needs," he said, "and that the other half ought to be dedicated to the use of the rest of the world.

"That was a reasoned approach from a friendly quarter. If distress and hopelessness grew, the demands on us will not all be friendly and not all be reasoned. Their aggregate will be far beyond our capacity."

Dulles, foreign affairs adviser to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey in the 1944 presidential campaign, said Communistic doctrines need not be feared in this country.

"The Soviet government's almost fanatical insistence on postwar secrecy is hard to explain," he said, "except on the theory that it fears that if the outer world knew how Communism worked in Russia, there would be widespread disillusionment abroad, and if the Soviet peoples were aware of the spiritual, intellectual, and material opportunities of other people, they, in turn, would be disillusioned.

"We need not fear a faith which itself fears the test of works. What we do need to fear is our own loss of faith in principles that have worked."

'Tough' Rationing Did Not Even Begin to Get Bad

Washington, Dec. 7 (AP)—So you thought rationing was tough, eh?

Relax, brothers and sisters. It could have been worse.

O.P.A. had made plans to ration clothing, soap, milk, automobile batteries and coal. It even had peeked at the possibility of rationing gas and electricity.

A former O.P.A. official, Pat French, reminisced with a reporter today about what might have been. Now an employe of the Budget Bureau, French helped draft O.P.A. ration programs.

The first thing you must understand about rationing, French says, is this: some officials didn't just sit down and say, "well, let's ration shoes today." It wasn't that simple.

Statistics had to be run down, trapped and analyzed. Production figures were interpreted. Possible effects of the plan were debated.

French gave a couple of illustrations of what O.P.A. had up its sleeve.

Maybe you didn't like the A card on the old bus. Well, you might have had another one, for milk.

French said one plan called for A, B and C milk cards. One for adults. One for growing children. One for babies, mamas-to-be and people on special diets.

Another now-it-can-be-told hint: Remember those unused stamps in the back of Ration Book III? The ones with pictures of tanks, guns and ships?

O.P.A. figured clothes rationing was so likely it had better toss in some spare stamps, just in case.

Local Shriners Are To Be Initiated in Albany Saturday

SHOKAN

Shokan, Dec. 6—Cards received from Mr. and Mrs. Otis Wright, Shokan couple who motored to Florida last October, indicate the Wrights are residing for the winter months in White City near St. Petersburg.

Preacher Amasa Slawson of Kingston conducted religious services at the Olive and Hurley Baptist meetinghouse last Sunday morning and afternoon.

Sam Cohen, Ashokan grocer, has resumed his store duties following recovery from a severe illness.

Alva Buley and assistants sawed 25 cords of stovewood at the Winchell farm last week.

Otto Grossmann, Jr., of the navy air forces is expected home on furlough from a North Carolina base.

Wolfgang Adels was among the unreported successful deer hunters this season. The Ashokan youth shot his buck near the family residence on the north reservoir boulevard.

Local residents learned with regret of the death of Mrs. George Thost, well-known business woman in the village for several years. The funeral services were held Friday afternoon at Woodstock. Mrs. Thost with her husband operated a store and refreshments place on Route 28.

A marriage of Friday, December 6, 1912, was that which united Edith Gray of Hurley to Clarence Phillips of Olive, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. G. L. Tiffany, pastor of the West Hurley Methodist Church. The couple made their home at Ashokan and Shokan and now reside on the Glenford mountain road. Children of Mr. and Mrs. Phillips include Clarence and Edward who were soldiers in the late war.

Frank Thompson, Jr., of Kingston was a business caller in the hub of the reservoir country last week.

Although few deer were seen here during the season, the animals appear to have been out in force Friday night. One farmer reports innumerable hoof tracks in the newly fallen snow while under his apple and oak trees the deer had dug up large paatches in their nocturnal search for food.

Tech. Sgt. Willie Cohen of Ft. Benning, Ga., is expected home and out of the army about the 15th of December.

The sound of saw and axe is heard in many a woodlot these early winter days as winter supplies of oak, maple and hickory are being put up for the winter. Ray Cudney has got together a big pile of rock oak near the Ride Road; John Adels and son have been busy for some time in their woodlot, and ex-Sergeant Merlin DuBois has gone into the stovewood business. Joseph Hausner is reported to be getting out pulpwood on his tract, formerly the Halsey lot, for shipment by rail, while James Rutherford has more orders for wood than he can fill. Daily wage for choppers ranges from five to seven dollars—if you can find one.

Ramon Nadal and John Bennett, the new North Front street automobile agents, in Kingston, are both well known in Shokan where they have a number of relatives, Mr. Nadal and Mrs. Bennett are children of Mr. and Mrs. Baptiste Nadal of the mountain section.

Recent storm casualties included the old time granary across the road from Andrew Krott's farmhouse. One of the huge limbs on a century-old maple tree scored a direct hit on the building which, though it is pretty well smashed up, still remains standing.

Ex-Sergeant Ralph Buley of Tonche Mountain road is not enjoying good health this winter as a result of service incurred disability during the North African campaign.

Lieut. John Adsit, who with Mrs. Adsit recently visited relatives here, has been ordered to Biserte, Tunisia, and will leave December 8 on his new assignment. John, a Kingston High School student before studying at the Ft. Monmouth Army Signal Corps School, was stationed in India during the late war. He is the older son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Adsit of Shokan.

More than 12,000,000 documents of the governments of the United States and Great Britain in the Mediterranean Theatre of Operations are being duplicated for historical records.

In 1886, Alexander Buntin installed at Valleyfield, Quebec, what is claimed to have been the first wood grinder in America.

Honor Students Are Announced By High School

Sugar Scarcities Will Hit East in January

Washington, Dec. 7 (AP)—Temporary sugar scarcities will develop in some sections after new ration stamps are validated January 1, O.P.A. warned today.

Sugar will be hardest to find on the east coast, which depends on Caribbean crops not expected to reach substantial volume until about March 1, O.P.A. said.

Individual consumer's sugar ration stamp 39 will be valid from January 1 to April 30. It will be good for five pounds. Sugar stamp 38 expires December 31.

Retail Survey Facts

Series of Articles Giving Interesting Facts Brought Out in Retail Buying Survey of Kingston District

(Ninth Article)

It is not surprising, considering the worries and perplexities that have been the lot of practically every housekeeper who has striven to eke out a limited number of "points" to cover adequate meals for her family, during these "unhonored and unsung" years, that interest in the Rationing Timetable should top the list of once-a-week features in the Kingston Freeman.

That such is the case was shown by answers in The Freeman readership survey to the question "What once-a-week features interest you and your family most?"

Second place in the once-a-weeks went to the Church Page. The others, attracting much less general interest, were, in order—The Coming Week, Roger Babson, the Stamp Column.

Roger Babson, appealing in interest more particularly to the man of business, the investor, etc., got his largest percentage of readers from among the men, but also had a comparatively large percentage of women readers. A small percentage of boys in the city read the column, but the country boys are not interested. As a whole the percentage of readers the city and country is about the same.

Other Features

Concluding the readership preference survey—and in addition to the various types of news and features which have been reviewed in these articles, Mr. Foster asked, "What other features and pictures interest you and your family most?" A list of 15 of these "other features" and four kinds of pictures was submitted to Freeman subscribers who answered the survey questionnaires.

Taking the grand overall percentages (with one exception there was not too much difference between the city and country surveys) these "other features" ranked in readership interest as follows, the percentage of choices obtained by each being given:

Service of Our Country	59
Weather Report	48
Twenty and Ten Years Ago	38
Editorial Page Cartoon	35
Editorials	34
Service Dad's Babies	32
Sports	24
Patterns Household Arts	22
Quickies	21
Sports Roundup	18
Crossword Puzzle	14
Bowling Scores	14
Stock Market Report	12
Financial and Commercial	11
Farm, Market Reports	10
Pictures
Local	56
War	45
National	39
Sports	31

The main difference between city and country surveys, not indicated in the table, is that Farm Market Reports which ranks last in the city survey and also in the overall percentage, jumps up to tenth place in the country survey. This is one of numerous instances which go to show that The Freeman survey figures pretty accurately reflect the real choice of the readers.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

Quick Get-Away

Coeur D'Alene, Idaho, Dec. 7 (AP)—Sheriff's officers are seeking a fast flier.

A trainer type airplane struck telephone and electric power lines and crash-landed into a field, disrupting telephone service for two hours and imposing a one-hour blackout in nearby homes.

Pausing only briefly at the scene of the accident, the plane took off again before officers had a chance to check the pilot's license.

Baffler

Fort Scott, Kas., Dec. 7 (AP)—Cpl. Bert Moore was a surprised GI when he walked into a camera shop in Osaka and saw his portrait hanging on the wall.

The picture was taken in the states because it shows Moore wearing civilian shoes and his civilian glasses, items which he has not worn since leaving this country a year and a half ago. Furthermore, he has no knowledge of the picture being taken.

Freed Under Bond

Chicago, Dec. 7 (AP)—Municipal Judge John T. Zuris was tried and found guilty in his own courtroom—in a "Kangaroo Court" proceeding—and was sentenced by a Congressional Medal of Honor winner to buy a $1,000 war bond.

Judge Zuris agreed to comply. He had been charged with failing to lead the Lithuanian nationality group of Chicago over the top in its victory bond sales campaign. T/Sgt. Stanley Bender of Chicago imposed the "sentence."

Bobby Sox Schemes

Portland, Ore., Dec. 7 (AP)—War-conscious youngsters have added to their repertoire of tricks.

A telephone call to H. F. Santee, grade school principal here, advised him that the Portland Army Air Base wanted all schools dismissed because "one of our balloons got away and it is loaded with high explosives."

The voice was sweet, feminine and young.

Santee and air base officials agreed that the next trick might involve an Atomic bomb variation.

Good Neighbor Policy

Chicago, Dec. 7 (AP)—Adela Rodriguez of Caracas, Venezuela, a delegate to the National 4-H Congress, saw the "Good Neighbor" policy in operation yesterday.

The 20 year old extension student at the University of New Hampshire, Durham, N. H., lost $115 and her return train ticket in a loop theatre just before the close of the Congress.

But her fellow 4-H'ers, at a farewell luncheon, took up a collection and presented Adela with $115.09.

HOLIDAY SHIPPING

An axiom with expressmen that "a shipment properly packed and marked is half way there" is recalled at this time when holiday shipping for the first peacetime Christmas in four years promises to exceed pre-war records for volume.

Careful packing of Christmas shipments, with due consideration for their delicate nature is more essential than ever to assure good condition on arrival and without delay, declares R. Burke, local agent for Railway Express.

The most valuable cooperation which expressmen can receive from the public in this matter will come from special care in providing complete, legible and accurate addresses on such shipments.

To assist the public in sending Christmas packages, local express offices will issue attractive holiday address labels, bearing "Do Not Open Until Christmas."

We may have "backed into two world wars," as Maj. Gen. Pat Hurley says, but anyway we didn't back out of them.

WORLD RULE

"The alternatives are clear," says an editorial in the conservative Cleveland Plain Dealer. "Either we must form a world government to control the atomic bomb, with power to make decisions and to enforce them, or we must engage in an atomic armament race which will lead to the certain and swift destruction of civilization."

Only a few years ago, or even a few months ago, level-headed men would probably have greeted such a statement with derision. But those who know what is going on in this strange new world of ours, the new powers discovered by man and the terrific things he may do with them if unchecked, are not laughing about it. They take it more seriously, perhaps, than intelligent and educated men ever took anything in their lives.

It is regarded as a literal fact that men—groups like ourselves—now have in their possession knowledge of power which, if unleashed by irresponsible groups, could wreck our civilization and destroy the civilized world as we have known it, leaving a more scientific barbarism in the hands of lawless and irresponsible groups.

The only alternative to such a fate, apparently, is to check the tremendous forces we have devised, and bring them under world control, so that they will be available not for war or other modes of destruction, but for fruitful human use. That may be the biggest constructive job mankind has ever tackled.

Maybe the Atomic Bomb one of these days will be clearing our Panama Canal to sea level.

WEIGHT IN DIAMONDS

"Worth his weight in gold" is a familiar expression. With gold outlawed for commercial use, perhaps phrasemakers should take a tip from the followers of the Aga Khan, head of one of the great Mohammedan sects of India, and say "Worth his weight in diamonds."

Next March Aga Khan will celebrate the 60th or diamond jubilee of his sectarian leadership. As the ceremony is to include weighing him in diamonds, London diamond firms are lending 264 pounds of rough diamonds to put into the scales. They expect to get the diamonds back. In addition $3,000,000 will be raised for charities in India and the Mohammedan communities of East Africa.

How many guards will be needed during the ceremony to ensure the safety of this pile of precious stones is impossible to guess.

STREET CARS

Mayor LaGuardia of New York announces with pride that by the end of next year the metropolis will be free from street cars. Hundreds of smaller cities all over the country will rise up immediately to tell the world that they have been freed from such nuisances for years. But it is the nature of big cities to fall behind in modern progress.

This statement is not meant as a joke. Big cities are like elephants and camels, awkward in their operations, hard to turn around, and slow to get ideas. Small cities can be much more mobile in their mental and physical operations—if their citizens have ambition and enterprise.

Seems as if we win wars nowadays by building fleets of ships and then scuttling 'em.

There is talk now of a new wave of home-building, and long may it wave.

'These Days'

By George E. Sokolsky

THE TRIUMPH OF THE LITTLE FLOWER

The American Broadcasting Company is to be congratulated on being able to hire for its network an extraordinarily colossal comedian—a worthy successor to an illustrious tradition of mimics, including such characters as Weber and Fields—the inimitable "Butch" LaGuardia, soon to be a broadcaster, to be placed on Sunday nights near Walter Winchell and Louella Parsons. One need but have listened to the "Little Flower" read the comic strips over the radio on a Sunday afternoon to realize that in all these years the mayor of New York had missed his true forte, for never had anyone produced such pathos, such sinister villainy, such seductive appeal. I never heard him do Jiggs or Maggie or even the rolling pin—what a pity!

I can just imagine what will happen after January first. The breathless radio audience, the largest in the world for a commentator, will be flashing for air, when the hand-wash will sign off and "Butch" will come on. It has not yet been announced whether the LaGuardia program will be sponsored or self-sustaining, but in time it must become a vehicle for commercial advertising—perhaps of such a noteworthy item as chess. In the position allotted Butch on Sunday night, he will have an audience which had just listened to the latest gossip from the Crane Club or Drake Club or something and had discovered the marvels of the staccato. Intriguing Butch, lovable Butch, saintly Butch will appear to tell everyone that he does not need to repeat anyone's gossip; what he says, he manufactures himself. He even knows the exact and precise truth about what Dick Tracy will do to Itchy in the end, he, The Flower, having in his day been the greatest policeman of all time.

He will probably then proceed to tell the public why he would make a better United States senator than anyone else, which would not be political (forbidden in a commentator) but only humor, so unusual on the radio. He would then comment on how badly Stalin runs Russia, Truman the United States, O'Dwyer, New York city and Tom Dewey, New York state. And it will all be so hilarious; in fact, Eddie Cantor's Mad Russian had better look to his laurels, and as for Jack Benny's Rochester, he won't be in it at all!

One thing Butch will not be able to do. He will not be able to give his audience tips on when points go on and off, because the O.P.A. is now pointless. However, he might be able to get the Surplus Property sales forces of the government, when they get around to it, to give him advice on where second-hand jeeps or even first-class alarm clocks might be purchased. Then he could tell his folks how to grab what is around and build an audience that way. He ought to be able to top Walter Winchell's ratings which the latter always advertises as a mark of something or other. In fact, if the American Broadcasting Company frames 'Butch" right, he might, in time, reach the rating of Bob Hope.

Well, folks, we are in for a good time and I shall be an avid listener, tuning in as soon as the hand-wash tunes out. Joking aside, I shall miss the Little Flower as mayor of New York. He is colorful even when he does not skip between the legs of our local fire-fighters. He is pungent in his lingo, bringing to his speech the Allium of his native New York mixed with the trombonic pasta of the nether areas of this city. He speaks a dozen or so languages, including several varieties of English, all of which he may use to fortify his program on the air. He is a financial wizard, as the balance sheet of this city discloses and, on the whole, he made an efficient and competent mayor, although he could not run a subway. His diatribes on the vices of the gamblers have been masterpieces of misdirected virtue.

Good luck, Fiorello, in your new career. May you bring joy and relief to your listeners, as I am sure you will!

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

One of the questions asked the physician when a member of the family has had a heart stroke (coronary thrombosis) or a brain stroke (apoplexy) is how the blood pressure can be reduced.

As a matter of fact once the elastic tissue in the blood vessels has been replaced by hard fibrous tissue there is nothing that will bring back this elasticity. The patient will just have to live carefully — no heavy exercise, small meals and plenty of rest. By doing this he may live a number of years. However there are cases of high blood pressure and where a stroke has occurred, in which there is still some elasticity left in the muscles of the walls of the blood vessels yet despite this elasticity the patient may have another brain stroke or heart stroke.

If he follows the physician's advice as to rest, light exercise, small frequent meals, no exercise immediately after meals and avoiding emotional disturbances insofar as this is possible he may increase this elasticity of the blood vessels and avoid a stroke. If he fails to follow these simple rules, is careless about food, rest, exercise, allows his temper to rise and attends exciting or anxiety causing spectacles, which cause his blood pressure to rise, and elastic tissue of blood vessels to get stretched too much and too often, he is endangering his life. Just as a piece of elastic, kept on the stretch too long, loses some of its elasticity so it is with your blood vessels. Loss of elasticity in the vessels carrying the blood means that more power, more pressure, is needed to pump blood through these vessels. It will be easier for a blood vessel to burst if it cannot stretch enough to accommodate the blood pumped into it which it should pump onward in the circulation.

It is for this reason that physicians give drugs in nervous, excitable, emotional individuals in an effort to keep them quiet, relaxed, less liable to fly off the handle. An individual that is relaxed thus prevents any spasm of his blood vessels. Spasm means closing or partial closing of the blood vessels which naturally means that more pressure is needed to pump blood through. We should all try to relax.

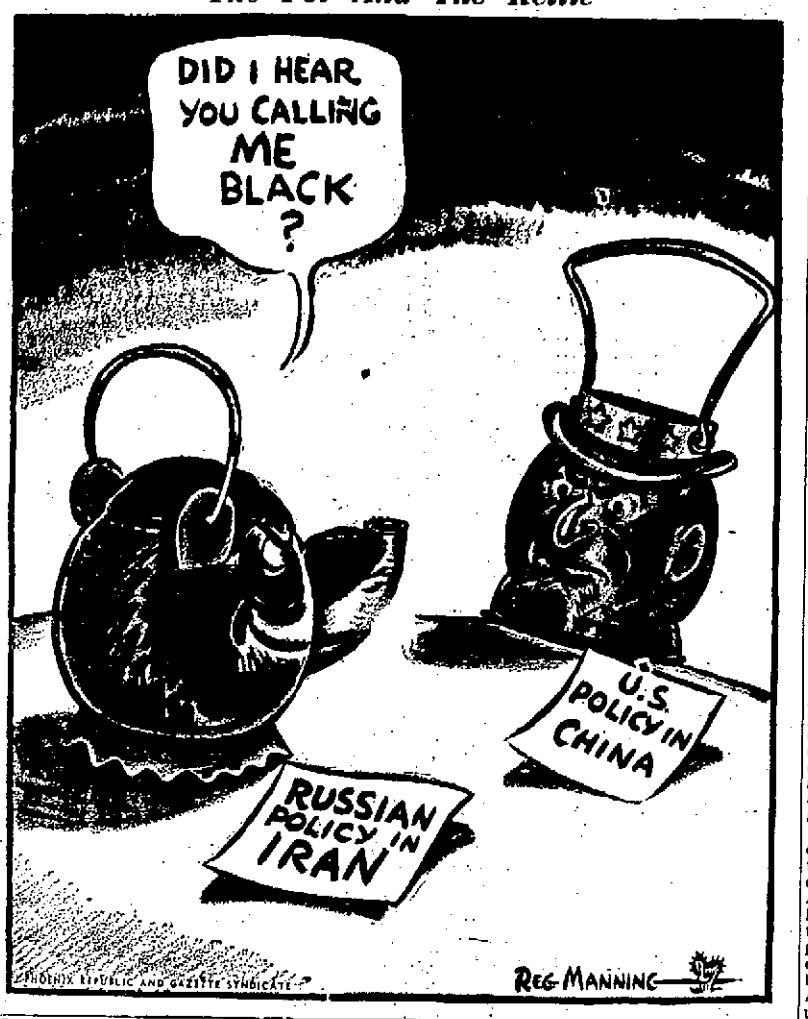
The Pot And The Kettle



"At Century's Turn"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

With talk of ferry service being restored between Rondout and Rhinecliff, it is interesting to recall that back in the days of the Civil War, and maybe before that, there was ferry service between the two places.

That fact was recalled to mind when I ran across an old clipping telling of the death on June 20, 1922, of Captain Benjamin Wells in his home in Port Ewen, at the age of 84 years.

Captain Wells, after a service of 37 years on the ferryboats Lark and Transport, retired from active service on May 1, 1907. He began his career as a ferryboat man on the old steamer Lark, that was used as a ferry between this city and Rhinecliff.

The Lark ran from Kingston Point across the river to Rhinecliff, and was kept in service until it was replaced by the old ferry Transport in 1880, when Captain Wells was assigned to have charge of the Transport, and continued in command until he retired in 1907.

It is interesting to recall that Captain Wells became captain of the old Lark on December 1, 1870.

Turning from ferries to fraternal affairs it was Tuesday evening, June 20, 1922, at a meeting held in the Masonic Hall on Wall street that a social club was formed of members of the Masonic fraternity, living in Kingston and vicinity.

The new club was named the Ronkin Masonic Club. The name of the club being a combination of the names of the two local Masonic Lodges, the Rondout and the Kingston Lodge.

P. H. Carey was elected president of the club, and the other officers were Ernest R. Alford, vice president; Harry S. Watts, recording secretary; William C. Coutant, financial secretary, and Leslie Lyons, treasurer.

The trustees chosen were Harry Tremper, Samuel Messinger and Charles W. Lewis.

James G. Van Keuren died in his home on Broadway on Saturday, July 8, 1922, aged 75 years. In his younger years he was connected with the James O. Merritt dry goods house and the George S. Merritt concern on Wall street.

Then he removed from uptown to the downtown section of the city and became a member of the firm of Van Keuren and Minard in the dry goods business. Later he became a special agent for a large insurance concern, a post he held until his death.

Mr. Van Keuren was very active in the religious life of the city and for a number of years was senior elder in the Rondout Presbyterian Church. He also served as an assistant superintendent of the Sunday school, and for years was teacher of a class of boys of high school age.

Fraternally he was a member of Kingston Lodge of Masons.

Henry Stryker, well known automobile dealer of the city, died on July 15, 1922, aged 57 years. He had been a resident of Kingston for 34 years, and carried on a painting business for a quarter of a century in the city.

In 1915 he engaged in the automobile business on Furnace street, and in 1919 he purchased the Broadway Garage at 708 Broadway, taking in as a partner, Leroy Loppendyke of High Woods.

Mr. Stryker at the time of his death was serving as president of the Kingston Automotive Dealers Association. Fraternally he was a member of Kingston Lodge of Masons and of the United Commercial Travelers. He was very active in the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church and a member of the board of trustees.

BABSON ON BUSINESS

BABSON DISCUSSES NEW DEVELOPMENTS

New York, New York, Dec. 7—I am in New York calling on some of my optimistic friends who are hopeful of very good times just ahead of us. In addition to the usual arguments as to the tremendous backlog of orders, the billions of cash awaiting an opportunity to buy merchandise and the possibilities of atomic energy, they throw at me various other things upon which they have been working. Some of them—by no means all—I submit below:

New Ideas for Builders and Manufacturers

Builders may soon be discussing the merits of new "lumber." This will be made from pulp and perhaps from a mixture of excelsior and portland cement. Also, a new cement is being developed for use in concrete flooring which will be as strong but much lighter in weight. It should reduce the amount of steel in buildings. There also is a possibility of concrete which will bend but not break.

Textiles will soon be treated with a wax emulsion which, when added to rinse water, makes clothing water-resistant. Also there is a new process which makes cotton fabrics proof against rot, fungus and mildew without changing their appearance. A new asphalt or oil treatment of sole leather, adaptable to cemented shoes, may greatly increase wear.

Good News for Housewives

The packaging of frozen foods, which have become a "must" for many housewives, is due for a speeding up. Fishing vessels and slaughter houses will be equipped for the immediate processing and freezing of fish, meats and poultry. A new can, the sides of which are fiberboard and the ends tinplate, may revolutionize the frozen food industry.

Cargo and express will be dropped by a parachute shaped like half a baseball cover. So we may expect to have shipments delivered in an improved condition. An appliance manufacturer tells of an electric washing machine which, in addition to washing clothes, has attachments by which dishes may be washed, potatoes peeled, ice cream frozen and even butter churned!

Improved Transportation

A bus company operating here through my community has applied for a helicopter franchise. Helicopters will have air-cooled motors, counterrotating blades and three road wheels. A PV-3 helicopter, with a long fuselage with a motor on each end, is now being tested by the Coast Guard and Navy. It carries 12 passengers. Regular planes are now being made to travel over 500 miles per hour at an altitude of 100 miles.

Printing is about to enter into a new field. One of the most recent uses for the process of printing is to print electrical circuits on heavy paper with lines of metallic, conductive ink, as a substitute for wires in low-priced radio sets. Television, too, will soon become a part of daily living. One New York Department Store has announced that it is ready to install three television studios in its store.

Further Developments

Britain has developed and used a method by which airfields are cleared of fog through the burning of many gasoline jets. The process is known as "FIDO" which means "Fog Investigation Dispersal Operation." Germany has hit upon a process for extracting ethyl alcohol from wood waste. Furthermore, we hope to preserve aquatic life through the use of a new method of disposing of paper-pulp-mill waste which will take these substances harmless.

Shortly after the first of next year I will make a much more complete summary of new developments which have gone forward during 1945. Returning veterans and others interested in getting into new fields of endeavor should watch for this review.

GRANGE NEWS

Ulster Degrees Conferred

Mrs. B. H. Williams, who has so faithfully and diligently served in the capacity of chairman, Service and Hospitality Committee, for the past two years, requested that her resignation be accepted. In accepting this resignation, the members paid tribute to Mrs. Williams by giving her a rising vote of thanks for her splendid work.

The following candidates were obligated in the third and fourth degrees: Mrs. Milton Tsitsera, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Whelan, Mr. and Mrs. S. Rosenthal, Mr. and Mrs. T. Eason, Jr., Miss Miriam Eason, Miss Dolores Hoffman and Mr. and Mrs. A. Dargin.

LAND BOOM FEARED

South-West Africa fears a land boom as a result of the repatriation of 1,200 German farmers, whose lands will be on the market after the owners are sent home. The legislature at Windhoek may pass laws to curb speculation in lands. One suggested Act would impose a tax on profits obtained from the resale of farms where they are sold within two years of the date of purchase. Entry of non-farmers into the business of buying and selling farm lands, was deprecated by legislators, who will try to stop the practice.

Four Years After Pearl Harbor There's No Unanimity of Opinion on Tragedy, Nor Conclusive Evidence

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Dec. 7—Four years have passed since the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor and yet there is no unanimity of opinion and no conclusive evidence as to how it happened and what preceded the tragedy.

During the war it was a part of the official propaganda to declare merely that it was a "sneak attack." The American people were taught to believe that the entire responsibility for the tragedy was upon the Japanese militarists and upon a couple of our own officers in the army and navy who failed to mobilize our forces in time.

Today the story is being pieced together by a Congressional committee. It reveals that the responsibility cannot be imposed on two individuals but upon the War and Navy Departments as well as the Department of State. It reveals that the negotiations with Japan appeared to be futile before they began and yet the armed forces of the United States were unprepared for the attack.

As a matter of fact every surprise attack is a "sneak attack" and, from a purely military standpoint, surprise is an important element. Hence the Japanese are credited in the testimony of our own officers with having achieved a well-coordinated and well-executed maneuver with their carrier aircraft.

Japanese seapower demolished our fleet at Pearl Harbor and then went its triumphant way down the Netherlands East Indies. As Admiral Halsey so picturesquely testified this week, in opposing the proposed administrative merger of the armed services, Japanese seapower was what set us back for several months until American seapower could be built up.

But why didn't the United States—the wealthiest nation on earth—have adequate protection by carriers and land-based planes? Why, as General Marshall testified, did the United States have so few land-based bombers available? This is a part of the story which goes deep into American politics and American attitudes toward foreign countries and toward preparedness.

When President Truman said the American people were responsible for what happened at Pearl Harbor as much as were our military forces, he was presumably not trying to shield any individual or offer an alibi, though this is how it was widely interpreted. Many persons with political axes to grind had been trying to accuse the late President Roosevelt of provoking the Japanese so we could be drawn into the war. This was a baseless accusation and nothing has been adduced to support it.

The Department of State, however, had kept its negotiations secret. It did not tell the American people about them. A fear of being alarmist evidently prevailed and yet suppression of the true facts did help to catch America off guard.

In Congress whenever warnings against Japanese were made before 1941, there was a tendency to soft-pedal testimony from army and navy officers. Their recommendations for more defense weapons were often disregarded. While, on the other hand, the budget bureau slashed the requests of the army and navy for funds, Congress often restored them, but rarely ever beyond what the army and navy asked for.

The big unanswered question nevertheless is why the army and navy between 1940 and 1941 didn't insist on larger appropriations as against Japanese plans. The customary answer heard—as it was about fortifying Guam—is that there was no use proposing to Congress any such appropriations because they wouldn't be approved.

But why wouldn't Congress vote the funds to build land-based airplanes and carriers and a modern fleet big enough to prevent what happened at Pearl Harbor and in the Far East, where General MacArthur's forces were caught by surprise, too, and couldn't defend themselves effectively?

It was because the American people were not prepared for eventualities in the Pacific, members of Congress thought they, by their attitudes and votes, reflected public sentiment. Indeed just a few weeks before Pearl Harbor, the House of Representatives, recording a huge Republican vote, nearly killed selective service legislation. It was retained by the margin of one vote even though the whole world was aflame with war and the threats to us were on the horizon.

The American people trust their government departments and their chiefs of armed forces to prepare for war. They cannot handle these matters except by delegating authority to their elected agents. The Congress in power not only in 1941 but in the years preceding must accept its responsibility for neglecting the chief task allocated to them by their constituents—the defense of the United States. That's the principal lesson learned after four years.

MUST UNIONS PAY FOR WILDCAT STRIKES?

The Ford Motor Company is providing the "bete-noir" of the labor bosses at the head of the U.A.W.-C.I.O. While General Motors has adopted the policy of sitting tight and refusing to open its books for an inspection of its profits, by the union, Ford has whipped out a cat-o-nine-tails and is leathering the union in its most sensitive spots. Two weeks ago it laid down thirty-two points which it described as providing "company security," and declared there would be no new contract until this security was assured by the U.A.W.-C.I.O. But it has now, made a yet more embarrassing demand—little spoken of in public as yet. Ford has demanded that the union pay the company five dollars for each man-day lost through wild-cat strikes!

Here is a poser for the Thomas-Reuther leadership. The industry has been plagued with innumerable shut-downs because of alleged unauthorized cessations of work by members of unionists. The wild-cat strike at Kelsey-Hayes Wheel Company in July and August of this year, tied up the giant plant of the Ford Company in Detroit and, because of a lack of wheels, also many other automotive plants. This was not a strike against the employer; hours and wages were not involved. It was a revolt against a ruling of government itself concerning the discharge of a group of foremen. The company was helpless. The government was helpless. According to the statements of R. J. Thomas, head of the U.A.W.-C.I.O. at the time, union leaders were helpless.

Ford has raised the question of compensation for damages resulting from such stoppage. If this is refused, and unions cannot guarantee against further such stoppages, then of what value to an industry is a contract with U.A.W.-C.I.O? Why not throw it in the ash-can as a scrap of paper good only for compliance on the part of the employer and for utter disdain on the part of the union.

There can be no principle to collective bargaining at all unless it is bilateral, comprehensive, and implies equal responsibility on the part of both sides. It cannot be said that responsibility must be maintained on the part of management but not on the side of the union. However, spurred by the Wagner Act and a clique of labor-appeasing New Dealers, union heads have smirked and turned their glances out the window when wild-cat strikes made of their contract with management, the laughing-stock of thinking people throughout the nation.

Is Responsibility "Mink-Soft"

Following the "sit-down" strikes of 1937, a clerically-minded man by the name of Homer Martin was elected head of the U.A.W.-C.I.O. in the Detroit area. Steadfastly and consistently he campaigned for "responsible unionism." He maintained that unless the U.A.W.-C.I.O. became thoroughly imbued with a sense of responsibility and reciprocal justice, the labor movement as a whole would seriously suffer. This attitude was considered a little bit too milk-soppy by the radicals who were seeking control of the automotive workers. They edged out Homer Martin, and the Thomas-Reuther-Addes triumvirate took over. There has been little responsibility in automotive unionism since then. Would it not be fair to consider the embarrassment of workers in the giant River Rouge plant of the Ford Motor Company if the foremen should all declare wild-cat strikes, or let us say, the paymaster? Great would be the consternation thereat, and the union would undoubtedly demand pay for all time lost. Who then can deny the same right to the company in the event of wild-cat strikes?

Leaders of a union can either control the action of their bodies, or they cannot. If they can, then they must concede that wild-cat strikes are purposeful and permitted in order to take advantage in some way outside of the contract. If, on the other hand, executive officers of a union cannot hold their members in job contracts, they are in a very lamentable position when posing as collective bargaining agents seeking to boost wages and obtain bigger and better contracts for the workers. If labor is going to be governed from the top, under dictatorship, it must be effective dictatorship, such as the regime of John L. Lewis.

There is an old legal maxim which says, "He who comes into equity must come with clean hands." Ford has handed the U.A.W.-C.I.O. bosses some hand-soap to do a little scrubbing before coming into the great court of public opinion.

10,000 Less Farms Produce Milk for New York Area

Improvement Is Object of Dairymen's League Members Are Told at Meeting

About 150 Dairymen's League members and their families from Greene and Ulster counties met at a two-county meeting and turkey dinner at Asbury Grange Hall in Greene county on the Old Kings Highway, north of Saugerties.

Henry H. Rathbun, president of the Dairymen's League, and operator of a large farm at Augusta Center in Oneida county, told the members at this meeting that more than 10,000 less farms are producing milk for the New York city market than in 1940, this in spite of the high prices reported by Washington as being paid to farmers for milk.

To Relieve Sacrifice

Mr. Rathbun stated that in his opinion the objective of the Dairymen's League is to make the farm home the up-to-date American home and do it without the farm family having to make the sacrifices necessary over the past several years.

He pointed out that 25 years ago the Dairymen's League had such a poor credit standing that they could not even get a carload of sugar on credit. Today banks are offering sums into the millions upon the bare note of the officers as security.

Additional facilities for handling milk are being provided by the association and new markets are also being developed by research.

One of Main Items

"Milk," said Mr. Rathbun, represents over 50 per cent of all farm income in New York state and is therefore most important to all farm families and all other farm organizations."

Following the meeting a good discussion was entered into by the members present with many questions being asked.

Singing was led by Hal Eppes of Accord, known as the "Milk Clown." M. C. Albright of Athens, sub-district president of Greene and Ulster counties, presided at the meeting, calling on Mr. and Mrs. George Vermilya of Lexington, Mrs. Ethel Zinck of Lexington and Mrs. Archie Morse of Jewett Heights, and George Dusenberry of Modena, who all had been members of the association for over 20 years.

John O'Brien, director from Orange county, was also introduced and commented briefly on the problems faced by farmers previous to the time the Dairymen's League was organized.

Grover Guernsey of Schoharie, director of District 5, was called on, commenting on the good fortune of the district in having had such men as Millard Davis of Kerhonkson, and Chester Young of Ellenville, who were the previous directors of the district.

Hurley Shows FBI Film at Luncheon Of Kiwanis Club

A film, "On Guard," depicting some of the activities of that famous organization, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, was viewed with keen interest by members of Kiwanis at their meeting Thursday noon. The picture was shown through the courtesy of Louis P. Hurley, who has been known to many here for several years as a special agent for the F. B. I., and who, on other occasions, has given talks before Kiwanis.

Speaking briefly previous to the showing of the film, Mr. Hurley referred to the fact that at the last time he talked to Kiwanis he expressed the opinion that should there be the expected increase in crime, the bulk of it would not be attributable to returning service men, but to juvenile delinquents. That is proving to be true, he said, since the largest number of arrests last year were of persons around 17 years of age. He added that he was not able to report any change for the better in the crime situation.

The film shown was not produced by the F. B. I., but did portray some of its activities both previous to Pearl Harbor and since. Most of it was evidence that had been presented in federal courts, Mr. Hurley said, noting that among cases included was that against the eight saboteurs who were landed completely equipped for work of sabotage in this country and that of the two spies who landed on the coast of Maine; also pictures showing the infiltration of Axis agents into the Americas, particularly Central and South America. The condition, which took a long time to dwevelop, presented an extremely dangerous one for America.

"Don't ask how some of these photographs were taken," Mr. Hurley said, adding that in instances the operation presented difficulties and sometimes the men risked their lives in performance of this duty.

Opening with a picture of J. Edgar Hoover, head of the F. B. I., who spoke briefly of its work, some of the early scenes showed meetings of German organizations in this country in the early days of the World War, including youth organizations.

Would this be fair?

Can you imagine your milkman, grocer, barber or tailor charging you extra just because you were able to pay more than some people?

Of course you can't. And what a state of confusion everything would soon be in if people tried to operate that way.

Suppose the people GM workers trade with told them, "We know you make more than most industrial workers, so we're going to charge you more for everything!"

Yet this is exactly the principle UAW-CIO leaders are trying to establish in their wage demands on General Motors.

To be logical, union leaders should also say to a company that is losing money, "You're having a hard time making both ends meet, so we're suggesting a cut in wages."

Can you imagine any union leader ever making such an offer? Of course, you can't.

Vital Matters Are Discussed During Educators' Parley

More scholarships, further study of its present state aid formula, and recommendation that the control of education continue to be vested in state and local school districts were among the major matters discussed at the annual meeting of the House of Delegates of the New York State Teachers' Association held in Syracuse.

Miss Sarah Gulick of Wallkill and Karl Ernst of Marlborough, represented the Ulster Educators at the session.

One recommendation was that the legislative committee and the executive secretary continue efforts with the state legislature to secure a larger number of scholarships and to increase the stipend of each scholarship.

Also that the present state aid formula for central schools be given further study, and that present levels of state support be increased by legislative enactment; that this type of school district organization be encouraged by special state aid quota for the payment of building debts incurred before centralization.

The association also recorded its belief in the necessity for a program of federal aid reserved to public schools sufficient in amount to guarantee an adequate minimum program of state-supported education; provided that the control of education continue to be vested in the state and local school districts.

Pacific League, Bonuses Are Still Up Before Minor Parley

Weather Survey For Ski Resorts In the Adirondacks

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 7 (AP)—Adirondack resorts look for crowds of skiers this week-end, despite the promise of poor weather, the State Commerce Department says.

The Scotch Cobble Tow at Lake Placid will be open tomorrow, a week ahead of schedule. The North Creek and Speculator Tows also will be in operation.

Light rain or wet snow will be falling on the sports region by tonight or tomorrow, the Weather Bureau predicts, and temperatures will rise.

The Commerce Department issued this survey of conditions last night:

Lake Placid—Eight inches of good, heavily packed snow.

Old Forge—Twelve to 14 inches, intermittent rain, skiing slaw.

Speculator — Fourteen inches, light rain.

North Creek — Sixteen inches, light rain.

Pretzie-Turner

Boston, Dec. 7 (AP)—Heavyweight Johnny Pretzie who has had astonishing success since his return to Boston after three years Army service, will tangle with Jay D. Turner of New York in a 10-round main bout tonight at the arena.

Business Meetings Are Slap to Chandler Who Departs to Make Speech

By HAROLD HARRISON

Columbus, O., Dec. 7 (AP)—The National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues — the Minors to most of us—went into its final sessions today with the ideas still before them that the Pacific Coast League might become a Major loop and that there should be no more bonuses for the signing players.

Those two major items still were pending after a day-long session of business meetings and lobby sitting that produced a slap as Baseball Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler and a re-shuffling of league alignments.

Chandler came to town Wednesday, and dashed away yesterday afternoon to fill a speaking date at Muncie, Ind., last night, after he had urged the Minors not to pass any legislation "offensive and obnoxious to me personally."

The Minors then promptly refused to change their player bonus laws which Chandler has declared "unfair and illegal," and decided to wait until today to act on another proposal which would ban all bonuses for the signing of players.

Also adopted was a proviso that no Major-Minor League rule should be construed as being detrimental to baseball, thus taking from Chandler a power he had inherited from the late Judge K. M. Landis.

This situation is expected to furnish some fireworks at next week's Major League meeting in Chicago when revision of the Major-Minor League agreement comes up.

Also left over until today was the Pacific Coast League's idea that it become a Major League. A vote on that was deferred on the request of the International League.

The realignment of leagues occupied a major share of the day's program.

The Minors approved an advance of the American Association, the International and Pacific Coast Leagues to a new class of AAA. The Southern Association already had decided to go into Class AA. Then the Texas League decided it wanted to do the same thing and that was approved. Next came the South Atlantic League which obtained approval to go from Class B to Class A and today it was reported that the Piedmont League wanted to make the same jump.

Kelly May Go Back To Notre Dame in '46

Washington, Dec. 7 (AP)—Bob Kelly, star Notre Dame halfback of 1943 and 1944, may be back in his old uniform next fall after a season in Navy's backfield.

Kelly's father, Rep. Edward A. Kelly (D-Ill), disclosed yesterday that Bob will tender his resignation from the Naval Academy this week and plans to return to Notre Dame "immediately."

He was a regular starter at halfback for the Middies most of this season.

Navy Bruiser Takes Ball

Bobby Davis, 20, who tips the beam at around the 200 mark, spreads his six foot-two form to grab the ball for New York Fleet Post Office in one of its recent Metropolitan Service League games. He's one of the Navy giants that will tangle with the Army Signal Corps quintet from Long Island in the Veterans of Foreign Wars skirmish in the Kingston Municipal Auditorium on Wednesday, December 12, at 9 p. m. The youthful bruisers of the Army and Navy teams will really turn on the heat in the local attraction moved up from New York to help Joyce-Schirick Post, 1386, add more cash to its building fund for a Kingston home. It's a regular league match which will count in the standing of the clubs. Indications are that there will be a record attendance to enjoy the Army-Navy tilt. Cage fans desiring good reserved seats are advised to order them now by 'phoning Bill Jordan, 1295-W.

Parham-La Motta Box in Chicago Tonight

Chicago, Dec. 7 (AP)—Charley Parham, Milwaukee welterweight, and Jake La Motta of New York, contender for the middleweight title, clash in a 10-round bout tonight heading the last boxing show of 1945 in Chicago Stadium.

La Motta, the probable favorite, lost a split 12-round decision to Ray (Sugar) Robinson, Negro welterweight contender, in his last Chicago start.

Wilman Takes Lead In All-Star Pin Play at Chicago

Chicago, Dec. 7 (AP)—Joe Wilman, the runner-up in last year's All-Star Bowling Tournament, came through last night to take over the lead in the fifth renewal of the event to determine the match-game champion.

Wilman, who finished second to Buddy Bomar in 1944, won 13 of his first 16 games to amass a 82.29 Petersen point total, just 16 pins ahead of Andy Varipapa the Hempstead, N. Y., trick shot artist with 80.22.

Varipapa had won 10 of his 16 games but had knocked over 3,522 pins for a 220 average to take the lead in this department. However, the Petersen Point System which is used during the finals of this tournament allows one point for each game won and one point for each 50 pins knocked down which explains Wilman leading despite his difference in total pinnage.

Third place went to Frank Benkovic of Milwaukee and Therman Gibson of Detroit after the first day's activity with 77.15 points.

The 16 finalists will roll four blocks of four games each day during the next three days and then Sunday night the new champion will be crowned. Buddy Bomar, the defending titlist, was 12th in the list.

Crowley Expects To Stay Friendly With E. Layden

New York, Dec. 7 (AP)—Jimmy Crowley, commissioner of the new All-American Football Conference, doesn't expect to have a falling-out with his old fellow rider of the Four Horsemen, Elmer Layden, no matter how hot becomes the fight between the new professional circuit and Layden's National League.

"We've been friends too long for that," Crowley laughed today. "Sure, we'll probably do a little scrapping professionally — but socially, no. As rival commissioners we'll be doing a lot of conferring from here on."

It has been 21 years since four young men—Crowley, Layden, Miller and Stuhldreher—blazed across the nation's gridirons and became famous as the epitome of grace, speed and power. Notre Dame and other colleges might since have had as good or even greater backfields, but none has ever quite so captured the public's imagination, unless it was Army this year.

Harry Stuldreher, who was quarterback of the famed quartet, still coaches at Wisconsin. Only Don Miller, the fullback, finally quit the game after eight years of backfield coaching at Georgia Tech and Ohio State.

Legion Auxiliary Plans Annual Trip To Veterans' Hospital

The American Legion Auxiliary of Kingston is making preparations for its annual Christmas pilgrimage, loaded with Kingston's best wishes and thoughtful gifts, to the veterans of three wars, now patients in Castle Point Hospital. Each year since the hospital opened, the ladies of the auxiliary have made this Christmas cheer trip, as well as a gift-loaded trip each Easter. Individual members make frequent trips there during the year, and the hospital personnel as well as the patients, have become well acquainted with Kingstonians.

The auxiliary makes no solicitations for this work, but they do invite friends of the auxiliary to help. Cookies and hard candies are especially acceptable. Hard candies are enjoyed by patients who are permitted to have sweets, during the showing of movies. Any persons who wish to help in this work, may leave the gifts at the Legion building, or someone designated by the auxiliary will call for them if addresses are left at the Legion Building, telephone 1914, with Mrs. John Waterman 4079, president of the auxiliary of this year, or with Mrs. Culver Ten Broeck, 3458-R.

INVITATIONS SHOULD BE CLEAR

The main objection to "and Family" written on the envelope of an invitation being its lack of definite information, a reader wonders if writing "The John Browns" or "The Ernest Browns" in its place would make things any clearer. "Our problem is how to include each individual in the several houses full of Browns at a party in honor of a returned soldier."

In answer to this, I can't see that the omission of "and Family" helps at all. Correctly (and explicitly) the envelopes should be addressed:

Mr. and Mrs. John Brown
Misses Mary and Sara Brown or
Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Brown
Messrs. John and David Brown

If the "Johns" had sons or the "Ernests" a daughter, the daughters' names in either case should be written below their parents' and the sons should be sent separate invitations. If Grandmother Brown were the head of her own house and married daughters and their children were living with her, one envelope could be addressed to "Mrs. Brown and Family." It quite plainly would include them all. (Married daughters also would be included on the "and family" addressed to Mr. and Mrs. John Brown or Ernest Brown.)

Writing Thank-You Notes

Dear Mrs. Post: We would like to send handwritten notes to acknowledge flowers and expressions of kindness to our family during its recent bereavement. We wondered whether they should be worded "The family of the late (name of deceased) acknowledges with deep appreciation your kind expression of sympathy" or perhaps, "Thank you for your kindness and sympathy" and sign a personal name.

Answer: The impersonal engraved card is suitable only when sent by the family of a very prominent person to strangers. To all friends and personal acquaintances the wording, "Thank you from all of us for your (whatever it might be)" written across the top of a visiting card and signed by a member of the family would be best.

Black at a Wedding

Dear Mrs. Post: During recent months I have noticed that black is being worn at an increasing number of weddings. Even the manner lately had on a long black s. At one wedding the bride wore a black suit. Has the old feeling that black was bad luck undergone a change?

Answer: Black has never been considered suitable for bridal attendants or for the bride at a wedding of any size! At the present time, it is not unheard of for a bride marrying in "traveling dress" to wear a tailored suit of black but always relieved with a considerable amount of white or color. For a bride's attendant, black certainly does not add to a wedding's beauty.

How early are wedding invitations mailed? The answer is found in Mrs. Post's leaflet, "Wedding Invitations and Announcements," obtained for a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope sent to her in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

B'nai B'rith Will Open New Home

Sunday Is Day For Official Opening Of Lodge's New Home

ARTHUR B. EWIG

Sunday is the day set for the official opening of B'nai B'rith House, 265 Wall street, which was recently acquired by Zephaniah Lodge, 131, of this city. The gala day for the organization will commence with breakfast at the Governor Clinton Hotel at 9:30 a. m. Open house from 1 to 6 p. m. will be held at the newly dedicated B'nai B'rith House.

The invocation at the breakfast will be delivered by Rabbi Herbert I. Bloom, of Temple Emanuel. This will be followed by Mayor William F. Edelmuth. Other addresses will be given by Arthur B. Ewig, president of Zephaniah Lodge; Emanuel Sonnenreich, field secretary of District Lodge No. 1; Arthur Goldberg, president of Upper New York State Council; and Max Schneider, third vice president of District Lodge No. 1.

B'nai B'rith nationally has embarked on its second century of service. It began as an organization concerned with bringing the various elements of the Jewish population together so that for purposes of benevolence, brotherly love and harmony the Jews of America might do constructive work in the field of Judaism and Americanism. From comparatively small beginnings it has grown to the largest Jewish membership organization in America. To name a few of its activities are anti-defamation work ever vigilant for the honor of the Jewish name; Hillel Foundation bringing to the campuses of the colleges and universities professional leadership and guidance so that the Jewish students will not be estrangled from their ancestral heritage and providing social, intellectual activity, interfaith work and vocational guidance; support of hospitals and philanthropic institutions; work among adolescents and young people in A. Z. A. and B. B. G. (B'nai B'rith boys and girls.)

B'nai B'rith is committed to no single interpretation of Judaism; orthodox, conservative and reform Jews are equally active. Zionists and non-Zionists find common ground within the Lodge. The only qualification for a Ben B'rith is that he accept his obligation toward his fellow Jews and his fellow Americans of other faiths and live in terms of the best interests of his community.

Although the Kingston Lodge was revitalized under the presidency of Dr. Harold Mandell about four years ago, its origin goes back to 1869. In the early days it was one of the leading forces of Jewish life in the community. A quaint note, reminiscent of those early days, is to be found in an old clipping from the Freeman, which is here reproduced for historic interest:

"As was announced some days since by the Freeman our Jewish residents are making arrangements for celebrating the Feast of Purim by a grand ball to be given in Washington Hall by Zephaniah Lodge No. 131, I.O.B.B., on Monday evening, March 10th, on which occasion the members of Zephaniah Lodge will entertain their guests in a manner seldom equalled by any organization. The details for the arrangements are now about perfected and that they are all that will be necessary to make the event an exceptionable one, it is only necessary, at this time, to mention the names of the following gentlemen composing the committee: Isaac Hersch, Morris Samter, Mark Jacobs, Nathan Ellis, Edward Dreyfus, Isaac N. Weiner, Abram Bernstein, M. Block, J. J. Butzel and Joseph Block. The music for the occasion will be furnished by Austin's celebrated orchestra from Albany. Attendance will only be permissible by card of invitation, and the cards are not transferrable. The hall is to be handsomely decorated for the occasion, and the committee having the magnificent balls given in New York at Purim as a guide to their path and a lamp to their feet, they are going to do the thing up in a style never before witnessed hereabout."

The dedication of the Lodge's new home will be directed toward the future, with the aid of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the B'nai B'rith, founded about three years ago, the lodge plans to do great things for Kingston Jewry and for the community at large.

The first president of the revitalized Lodge was Dr. Harold Mandell. Subsequently the office was held by Herman Eaton, Paul Black and Arthur Ewig, its present incumbent. Paul Black fell on the field of honor in the service of his country. Herman Eaton is now serving in the Army.

Dairymen's League Favors Auction of Surplus Milk

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 7 (AP)—The Dairyman's League proposes that surplus milk be auctioned to butter and cheese makers.

Frank Lent, the Cooperative Association's attorney, described the plan yesterday at a meeting of producers and distributors.

Predicting there would be a surplus of 360,000,000 pounds in the state milk shed by next June, Lent recommended that handlers be permitted to auction extra milk in New York city. Prices would be less than those fixed up by the Metropolitan milk marketing order.

The meeting was one of several requested by the Federal and State Agriculture Departments, which seek suggestions for amendments to marketing order and will hold public hearings after the preliminary conferences. A similar meeting will be held today in Syracuse.

The World Today

By DEWITT MacKENZIE
(AP World Traveler)

London, Dec. 7—The major assault against the new labor government by the Conservatives, under the leadership of former Prime Minister Winston Churchill, didn't get the Tories very far—a result which the veteran diplomat of course had expected, since it was a foregone conclusion that the Socialists would defeat the motion of censure by a smashing majority.

I sat in the Commons gallery during the two-day debate and, while Churchill's personal contribution was impressive for its suberb craftsmanship, it struck that it didn't carry the conviction we've been used to getting from him. Still, it was old times to watch him in action again on the floor of the house, as I first did 30 years ago.

Let's see, he would have been in his happy forties then—a nice age at that, when you're old enough to want to climb fences. Churchill hasn't lost any of his punch with passing time, and the Laborites listened to him with vast respect, but I'm afraid he was trying to lay bricks with very thin mortar.

However, that's neither here nor there. What we are concerned with is the significance of this reaffirmation of Socialist strength. Where do we go from here?

Well, there can be no doubt that this battle royal will give the Laborites further confidence in pursuing their program of nationalization which the Conservatives declare means regimentation of the individual and inflation. Whatever the real meaning may be, the government undoubtedly is determined to keep forging ahead in molding a Socialist state during its five years of office, for it has its mandate from the voters.

We must recognize that the working people, and many of the middle class as well, are determined on betterment of their way of life. Workers such as the vast army of coal miners, who for generations have been terribly underprivileged, never will abandon their fight.

At the same time there is uneasiness in England, even among many who support labor, over this great experiment in Socialism. The vast majority of the people don't want to see it sway too far to the left. They don't want any regimentation.

In this connection English folk are coming to Mrs. Mac and me and asking anxiously what the United States thinks about the new government. They are greatly afraid that America will get the idea Britain is going extremist.

The answer to this fear is that England wants American friendship. Apart from all other considerations, John Bull has been terribly hurt by the war, and he's feeling mighty lonely these days among the wrecks of the once prosperous countries of western Europe.

Country's Most Decorated Band Plays Here Saturday

Coast Guard Musicians at Auditorium for Victory Loan Ball, Show

Kingston and Ulster county people will have an opportunity on Saturday night to see and hear the "most decorated band in the United States" when the Coast Guard Sea Landers band will appear here at municipal auditorium to supply music and entertainment for the big Victory Loan Ball.

Admission will be by purchase of a Victory Bond or the pledge to purchase a bond under the payroll saving plan. Service men and their guests of course will be admitted free. If you have not already purchased a bond there will be no need to miss the entertainment and dance for arrangements have been made to have bond salesmen at the auditorium who will circulate among the crowd to sell Victory Bonds. A booth will also be operated at the auditorium where bonds will be on sale.

Chief Yeoman Joseph S. Baldwin, Jr., director of the Sea Landers will bring his entire contingent of musicians to Kingston for the ball and in addition there will be a one hour show and entertainment with dancers, comedians, singers and music by the band. Among those who will be starred on the show is Spar Peggy Martin, one of the country's greatest jazz vocalists, Jack Lopez, one of America's top tap dancers, Joe Williams, outstanding drum major and many others.

Every man in the Sea Landers band has seen action on many fronts and taken part in numerous landing operations, between engagements supplying the men at the front with entertainment and music. Because of the decorations which every member of the band wears, the band has become known as "the most decorated band" in the world. The men were attached to the Coast Guard attack transports U.S.S. Leonard Wood and U.S.S. Samuel Chase.

Ossining, N. Y., Dec. 7 (AP)—A discharged Army veteran of four invasions, the Battle of the Bulge and 30 months service overseas, was killed today when he slipped and fell under a moving train, police reported. GYPSY'S CURSE WORKS

A gypsy woman, traveling Milton Hall Road, Gravesend, England, in the summer of 1944, offered to buy the lavender from a lavender hedge that was in bloom. Refused by the owner, she became angry and told him the hedge would wither. Going to the house opposite, she tried to buy some carnations growing in the front garden but was refused again and said: "No more carnations will grow in this garden." This year, observers say, two of the lavender bushes died and not one carnation flowered.

Federal Subsidies Give Consumers Ideas, Lent Says

Syracuse, N. Y., Dec. 7 (AP)—Representatives of three dairy farmer organizations, uniting to obtain milk price adjustments, were told today that the government's subsidy program has led to "a complete misunderstanding among consumers of the costs and value of milk."

Frank B. Lent of the Dairymen's League Cooperative Association, addressing the third of a series of six conferences, also asserted "we are now compelled to give our primary attention to restoration of the dairy industry to a sound basis."

Pointing out that the government has been paying two and a half cents on every quart of milk sold, Lent declared:

"Moving in a united effort, the farmers' organization seek amendment of the New York city federal-state marketing orders in regard to the Class One (fluid) milk price to provide for orderly and automatic transition from subsidy-supported producer returns to market-supported returns at not less than prevailing levels."

The present Class One price is $3.70 per hundredweight with a federal subsidy of 70 cents added. The producers' petition asks for $5.06 from October through March, and $4.66 from April through September.

Another petition under discussion deals with readjustment of prices of milk used in manufactured products.

The proposed amendment would, among other things, set up a system whereby a fluid milk dealer finding himself with surplus milk could call for bids by manufacturers to assure obtaining the highest possible price.

Organizations represented at the conference, in addition to the Dairymen's League, were Eastern Milk Producers, and the Metropolitan Cooperative Milk Producers Bargaining Agency, Kenneth F. Fee, director of the Division of Milk Control, Department of Agriculture and Markets, presided.

Similar conferences will be held at Elmira, December 18; Port Jervis, December 19, and New York city, December 20.

Two Persons Die In Car-Truck Crash

Norwalk, Conn., Dec. 7 (AP)—Ralph Renzulli of Norwalk, a recently discharged soldier, and his father, America, were killed a block from their home on the Boston Post Road last night when their car was hit by one trailer truck and tossed into the path of another.

Police said the car was hit first when it started making a left turn out of the four-lane highway, and was shunted by one truck to the other side of the road in front of a truck coming from the opposite direction.

Both men were thrown out of the wreckage, and police said it was not until some time after the accident that they established that Ralph Renzulli had been driving the car.

The operators of both trucks were booked on charges of driving so as to cause loss of life, Police Lieutenant John Smith said, and were held in $1,000 bail pending an inquest. They were Vincent Oliwa, 29, of Derby, and Herbert H. Hill, 29, of Baltimore, Md.

1,500 Agents Arrested

Washington, Dec. 7 (AP)—The F.B.I. disclosed today that more than 1,500 enemy agents were arrested in the Western Hemisphere during the war. The list includes spies, saboteurs and propagandists. Some of the arrests were made by local law enforcement authorities in South and North America, others by the F.B.I.

75 Co. M Veterans Members and Sons Attend Dinner

Seventy-five members of Co. M Veterans' Association, and their sons, veterans of World War II, attended the annual association banquet held Tuesday evening at the state armory, when memorial services were held for those who had died.

The memorial service was conducted by Commander George Schick. Eight members of Co. M died overseas in 1918, and 27 members have died since Armistice Day in 1918, while four of the sons of Co. M veterans paid the supreme sacrifice in the last war.

The four sons who died are Second Lieut. W. E. E. Canfield, Seaman 1/c Daniel Styles, P. F. C. James Dugan and P. F. C. Fred Naccarato.

At the close of the service taps was sounded by Bugler Frank Sass.

Secretary James R. Howard of the association was toastmaster at the banquet and the principal speaker was Special Agent Louis P. Hurley of the F.B.I.

Others who spoke were Master Sgt. Aaron Kiersted, who is shortly to retire from the army with a record of 12 years and 8 months in overseas service; Sgt. William Marks who recently returned from India.

The film "On Guard" was shown by George Mustaparta of the Hercules Powder Co. The film has been loaned by the F.B.I.

May Restore Priorities

Washington, Dec. 7 (AP)—President Truman was reported today to be planning to restore building materials to a priorities system in an effort to break a bottleneck in home building. Officials of government agencies familiar with the program under consideration said it had been agreed that there must be a move quickly to get home construction rolling. These officials, who asked that their names not be used, said Mr. Truman might announce some action at his news conference scheduled for 4 p. m. (E.S.T.) today.

Planes Are Sought

Miami, Fla., Dec. 7 (AP)—A vast sea and air armada was ordered out today to scan 100,000 square miles of the Atlantic in a "last chance" effort to rescue 27 men who disappeared with a formation of five torpedo bombers and a missing search plane. The Navy alone ordered 248 planes into the air, while 18 surface craft—including the baby flattop U.S.S. Solomons—numerous merchant ships and other searchers made it probably the biggest rescue effort of peacetime.

Will Start Hearings

Washington, Dec. 7 (AP)—The House Labor Committee today voted to start public hearings next Monday on legislation setting up fact-finding boards to handle labor disputes.

made to Lt. Gen. W. D. Styer, commander of army forces in the western Pacific. If Styer upholds the commisison, he may appeal to General MacArthur, as Allied commander of the Pacific; then to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Day after day, for more than three weeks of the 32-day trial, more than 200 prosecution witnesess related testimony of unbelievable horrors throughout the Philippines by troops under Yamashita's command. The general swore on the witness stand that he never before had heard of them; that each new bit of testimony came as surprising news. In his vain defense he said he was too busy or too isolated to have seen or even heard of such atrocities as day and night long mass rape of Filipino girls and women by Japanese troops; of the execution of thousands of Allied soldiers, Filipino guerillas and civilians—many of them by the fiendish method of cremation alive with flaming gasoline; of the wholesale bayoneting of civilians, who then were forced into deep wells by scores of hundreds to die agonizingly of their wounds; of countless other blood-chilling, monstrous brutalities.

Says His Conscience Clear

Manila, Dec. 7 (AP) — Outwardly calm, Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita was taken to new Bilibid prison under armed guard today to await formal review of his death penalty—but first he told the world that "my conscience is clear."

Back in his quarters after hearing sentence pronounced, the doomed Japanese commander impassively smoked a cigaret.

Earlier, Lt. Gen. Akiro Muto, his chief of staff, had burst out: "Why must they hang us? Why can't they shoot us like true soldiers?" Yamashita made no reply. He was smiling as he entered the cell.

"I told the military commission that I never ordered, authorized or condoned commission of crimes by my troops," he said in a statement issued as he sat, stiff backed and looking straight ahead, awaiting transfer to New Bilibid.

"From the conclusion of the military commission, as read to me by its president, I see that the commission itself has recognized this."

No Traffic Accidents; Weather Improves

Despite icy roads and sidewalks yesterday morning no accidents were reported to the police. It rained all day and the temperature went as high as 40 degrees. This melted the ice on the throughfares, lessening traffic hazards. Rain this morning ceased about 8 o'clock and the sun broke through to make ideal weather for the rest of the afternoon. The forecast is more rain and warmer temperatures.

Only the outright loan needs congressional approval, but every sign pointed to a bitter struggle. Harsh words were heard from a Democrat as well as a Republican in the House even before the credit agreement was officially announced.

Asking anonymity, State Department and Treasury officials who participated in the talks here said today they are convinced that any major change in the loan terms would force Britain to reject the loan altogether and pursue her own economic course within a restricted bloc of countries.

As a part of the credit agreement, Britain agreed to cooperate with this country toward worldwide trade expansion by lowering such barriers as tariffs and cartels.

Senator Robert Wagner (D.-N. Y.), chairman of the Senate Banking Committee, told a reporter he had not had time to study the specific proposals but added: "Speaking generally, I believe something must be done toward helping Britain to cooperate with our country in bringing about a more orderly economic world."

Senator Lister Hill (D.-Ala.) said: "The loan should be made."

On the other hand, Rep. Dan Reed (R.-N. Y.) declared: "The slogan of the New Deal now is 'Come one, come all and get our billions.' I'm opposed to this loan. We have committed ourselves far enough financially. These loans will not be repaid."

In the House yesterday Rep. Dewey Short (R.-Mo.) said he would not vote one dollar "as long as they've got the crown jewels in London." And Rep. Emanuel Celler (D.-N. Y.) said the loan "will promote too damned much Socialism at home and too damned much Imperialism abroad."

The exact form of legislation that will be offered in Congress has not been decided.

Sells Says State To Avoid Inflation

Buffalo, N. Y., Dec. 7 (AP)—New York state has no intention of increasing its construction estimates at the cost of contributing to an inflationary process, Charles H. Sells, superintendent of the State Department of Public Works, declares.

Sells last night told the 20th annual meeting of the New York State Chapter, Associated General Contractors of America, that only 40 per cent of the $31,800,000 worth of highway construction work offered by the department since V-J Day has been bid successfully, and added:

"It would be a simple matter for the department to continually increase its estimates until we found some contractor willing to take the work," but "it cannot be forgotten that such an action would have an effect on prices."

Sells suggested that the contractors meet in conference with labor leaders, manufacturers and distributors to iron out problems he said were retarding public and private construction.

"Both our private and public economy depend on an early solution of these problems," he said, asking:

"Why shouldn't a little honest discussion remove the fog and bugaboos which, when not discussed, often assume such formidable proportions?"

John R. Phillips, Pavilion, succeeded William H. Peckham as president.

principal obstacles to a settlement.

The latter issue was waived after a secret meeting of company and union heads with CIO President Philip Murray at Pittsburgh Wednesday. Picketing was not discussed at yesterday's session, and there was no indication it would be brought up again.

A citizens' committee of 14 meanwhile came to the union's support to the extent of saying use of wage-price-profits relations in settling the dispute would not deprive management of its rights.

The settling of actual prices 'remains a managerial function," the committee said, but "at a time when there is a threat of inflation the level of prices becomes a matter of legitimate public concern."

Representatives of U. A. W. G. M. locals throughout the nation will meet here tomorrow to consider Mr. Truman's appeal for an immediate resumption of work by the 175,000 strikers while the fact-finding board probes the merits of their grievances.

War veterans idled by the G. M. strike held a mass meeting last night to demand unemployment compensation which they claim is due them under the G. I. Bill of Rights. They also laid plans for a demonstration today at the office of the Michigan Unemployment Commission, which has ruled veterans ineligible for jobless benefits.

The Detroit Department of Welfare reported nearly 100 applications for relief of G. M. strikers and their families. Eligibility for relief, a department spokesman said, is based solely on need.

Peacetime Aviation Boom Is in Making

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 7 (AP)—A peacetime aviation boom is in the making for New York state.

Four major and one minor airlines now criss-cross New York, the State Bureau of Aviation reported today, while 13 airlines operate out of New York city's La-Guardia Field, the state's largest.

About 100 applications for new routes and licenses have been placed before the Civil Aeronautics Board in Washington by various airline and other commercial aviation interests in the state, the bureau added.

The result will mean a substantially increased program of flying—commercial and private—and many new air facilities such as fields, hangars, and shops, probably will be built at the state's 180 airports, the bureau noted.

Passenger fares average 4½ cents a mile and airlines say they hope to cut the fare to 3 cents in another year. This, they predict will be achieved through greater volume of traffic and more efficient operation.

One airline official said he hoped that militarily-proved aviation practices—like jet-assisted take-offs for heavily loaded aircraft—would become feasible within the next year or two for commercial lines.

The Aviation Bureau was established this year in the Commerce Department to assist public and private agencies in developing air commerce and airports throughout the state. It is headed by William E. Cullinan. Aviation licensing and regulations are under the jurisdiction of the Federal Civil Aeronautics Authority.

American Airlines Grants Wage Boosts

New York, Dec. 7 (AP)—Pay increases averaging 10.7 per cent were granted today by American Airlines to more than 3,000 company mechanics in cities throughout the nation.

Also effective January 1, the work week will be reduced from 48 to 40 hours without any reduction in take-home pay, the company announced. Night workers will get extra pay.

Wage-hour disputes and a jurisdictional quarrel between four unions led to a strike in October when mechanics and maintenance workers left their jobs in Chicago, Buffalo, New York and Detroit for several days.

Lustig Pleads Innocent

New York, Dec. 7 (AP)—Henry Lustig, 54, president and owner of the Longchamps restaurant chain, and four associates pleaded innocent in Federal Court today to an indictment charging they wilfully attempted to evade income and excess profits taxes of $2,872,766. The indictment, which was filed yesterday, said the sum represented taxes for the years 1940 to 1944 inclusive. U. S. Attorney John F. X. McGohey said the taxes were due from seven corporations comprising the Longchamps restaurant chain.

Wreckage of U. S. Plane Discovered By Argentinians

Buenos Aires, Dec. 7 (AP)—Argentine police authorities in Corrientes Province confirmed today reports that the burned wreckage of an American C-47 transport plane, missing since Monday, had been found 20 miles south of Colonia Pellegrini with all 14 occupants dead.

First report on the location of the wreckage plane came from a farmer in the interior of the province, who said the crash occurred on the edge of a small lake. The scene is one of the most desolate areas in Argentina.

The plane was carrying members of a U. S. Army Geographic Mission from Asuncion, Paraguay, to Montevideo, Uruguay, together with the plane crew and the legal attache of the U. S. Embassy at Asuncion.

(The War Department in Washington declined to release the names of those aboard the plane pending notification of next of kin.)

Roosevelt Memorandum Tells of British Plight

Philippine requirements said "12,000 additional."

The paragraph head:

"Philippines, present garrison or enroute 31,000 (12,000 native troops), critical situation, Japan wavering, strong air and naval forces on her flank may deter men or wean her from Axis. If Japan moves, forces in position to assist associated powers. No reduction possible. On the contrary reinforcements of about 12,000 troops, including air complements, in prospect. Philippine army in process of organization;—80,000 by January 1, 1942."

Opposite a paragraph on Hawaii, a notation said: "O.K. leave as is."

In this paragraph Marshall said:

"Hawaii. Authorized and present 41,000, naval installations (Kaneohe Bay) being expanded, requiring additional defenses. Presence of fleet reduces threat of major attack, reinforcements can be deferred as long as fleet remains in Pacific. Reinforcements must be available in United States to give fleet freedom of action."

The chief of staff presented a long series of arguments against any reduction in the size of the American forces, observing at one point: "Collapse of Russia, England, offensive tactics by Japan and belligerent attitude in Latin America are possibilities. We must prepare to meet these eventualities."

He told the President that to defeat Germany "we must come to grips with and annihilate the German military machine."

He argued that additional materials for the British and Russians could be obtained only by cutting back American requirements, adding that any such reduction "might result in fatal delay."

"The long view is essential to our interests," he declared. "In other words to shift our national objectives by the reduction of our Army at the present time might be disastrous.

"Certainly the momentary encouragement it would give the Russian and British governments would be far outweighted by the positive indications it would give to the German government, that they need not fear an eventual onslaught of ground forces."

Pre-Pearl Harbor Estimate

Another document from Mr. Roosevelt's secret files contained a pre-Pearl Harbor estimate that the island of Oahu "is believed to be the strongest fortress in the world."

But across the top of it, in what Gesell said was the handwriting of Mr. Roosevelt's aide the late Maj. Gen. E. M. Watson, was scrawled notation: "Modern planes have completely changed situation as to defensibility."

The document was entitled "Aide Memoire—Defense of Hawaii." Its origin was not shown, but it bore a notation "came to file 5/3/41 (May 3, 1941)."

The document said that "with adequate air defense, enemy carriers, naval escorts and transports will begin to come under air attack at distance of approximately 750 miles." It added:

"This attack will increase in intensity until when within 200 miles of the objective the enemy forces will be subject to attack by all types of bombardment closely supported by our most modern pursuit."

The document said that "including the movement of aviation now in progress, Hawaii will be defended by 35 of our most modern flying Fortresses, 35 medium range bombers, 13 light bombers, 150 pursuit of which 105 are of our most modern type."

In this sentence, before the figure 35, Gesell said Marshall had inked in an asterisk, keyed to this handwritten notation below::

"Due to make a mass flight from mainland to Hawaii May 20th. A number of this type of plane could be dispatched immediately if the situation gets critical."

The document concluded with this paragraph:

"In point of sequence, sabotage is first to be expected and may, within a very limited time, cause great damage, on this account and in order to assure strong control, it would be highly desirable to set up a military control of the islands prior to the likelihood of our involvement in the Far East."

Green Assails Truman Policies

one year "for influencing public opinion." He listed Poland's expenditures for the same purpose as $850,000, and said that 15 foreign governments had reported spending $5,368,000 in the same year "for propaganda in the United States."

But Green, credited by his colleagues with being at least a candidate for the vice presidential nomination in 1948, came forth with far more than the "welcoming" speech for which he had been marked down on the program.

He told the national committee that it ought to "propose a complete about-face from the weak and vacillating Truman New-Deal diplomacy which has suffered the most humiliating defeat in American history."

"With the greatest military force in the world," he declared, "it has lost every skirmish on the diplomatic front. The Four Freedoms and the Atlantic Charter not only have been disregarded, but specifically violated."

Without offering any specific solution for the international problem, the Illinois governor turned to a discussion of domestic issues with the assertion that the "time has come to bring national expenditures down to the tax receipts of our national government."

He urged that Congress enact legislation "requiring full publicity to all deals for disposal of surplus war goods or alien property."

Of the labor-management controvery, he said:

"We believe that most of our labor conflicts could be settled promptly if management and labor were free to negotiate in their own interests."

Admiral Raeder, who maintained under questioning after his capture that he had no hand in Hitler's plotting and was merely a bluff old sea dog doing his duty to his country, was disclosed by his own records to have sold Hitler on the idea of invading Norway in October, 1939—five months before the invasion. He also arranged a meeting between Hitler and Quisling in December to polish up the fifth column plot that aided the invaders.

Quisling was executed as a war criminal last October after a trial in Oslo.

Strike Leaders Promise Free Access to Factory

Stamford, Conn., Dec. 7 (AP)—Following appeals from Governor Raymond E. Baldwin, strike leaders at the Yale & Towne Manufacturing Company promised free access to the factory for all persons "with a legal right" to enter, and the company in turn said it was ready to start negotiating a contract with the International Association of Machinists (A.F.L.).

The governor spent more than seven hours here yesterday conferring with union and management officials on the strike which began a month ago over demands for a closed shop and a 30 per cent wage increase. Three thousand workers are idle.

After yesterday's conference the company sent a man into the plant with hamburger, eggs, bacon and other food for 14 superintendents and managers who have been carrying on maintenance and watchman duty since 8 a. m. Monday because, the company contended, no one could get through the picket line to relieve them. They had been eating canned food from the plant cafeteria.

William R. Hoyt, general manager of the company, said another group of management personnel had been instructed to report this morning as relief for the 14 men "on the basis of agreements" with the union.

Christmas Cheer Appeal Is Made By Salvation Army

The annual Christmas cheer appeal and the usual maintenance appeal for funds to continue the operation of the Kingston Salvation Army work during the year, have both been combined into one campaign this year, Major W. J. Hoffman, officer in charge of the local work, announced yesterday. Letters have been sent out soliciting funds from all those who have contributed to this important work in the past but in addition to those who have received appeal letters the Salvation Army also asks any other individual to make a contribution to this worthy cause.

John H. Saxe, president of the State of New York National Bank, is treasurer of the fund and all contributions may be sent to him.

The campaign will terminate on January first but contributions may be made at any time to Mr. Saxe.

Major Hoffman believes that from battle front experiences the war has given many veterans an aroused consciousness of spiritual needs. All Salvation Army Corps are prepared to offer ex-service men and women religious counseling, participation and leadership in religious activities. Among the many things which the Salvation Army is prepared to bring to the people of the locality, is religious education and character-building programs for children of veterans, pastoral ministry, including assistance and guidance in arranging wedding, burials etc. In this country there are nearly 3,000 Salvation Army units of work located for the most part in urban communities.

These Salvation Army units, like the unit in Kingston, offers many types of assistance to those in need. Among them are religious activities, group work, home visitations both day and night. Men's emergency homes and lodges are maintained for homeless men. There are sheltered workshops and stores for the sale of salvaged goods.

Boys Clubs and Youth Centers are maintained and the local unit does considerable work annually at Fresh-air and Young People's camps. Settlements and Day Nurseries are also operated. A missing persons bureau is operated and through this bureau the entire Salvation Army throughout the world is utilized in cooperation with the police to locate missing persons. Vocational guidance and Placement bureaus are operated and during the war the Red Shield Centers for the armed forces were maintained, including mobile canteens. These centers now operate in the occupied countries.

A Home League, the lay woman's organization for improvement of home life through Christian fellowship, is another important work. Salvation Army also cooperated with prison and police work and operates Employment Bureaus in larger cities. In smaller cities Corps officers aid in finding employment. In large cities hospitals are available, including general hospitals, women's hospitals, maternity homes for unmarried mothers, and there are free dispensaries, medical clinics and dental clinics. Young Business Women's residences, known as Evangelines, are operated and women's emergency homes and lodges and hotels for middle aged working women who have no home of their own, do good work in larger centers. Dentention homes are also operated and Men's Hotels, operated at moderate prices for single men with low earning capacities.

Much of this service is offered locally and all local needy may be given any of this aid in case of need.

GIRL M.D. TENDS LEPERS

Jean Lamplugh, a young woman doctor, has just returned from leave at her home in Birmingham, England, to her lonely leper station in Northern Rhodesia, where she was for years the only white woman in an area with 12,000 natives. At her hospital on Chilubi Island in Lake Bangweolo, she and 18 native orderlies look after 120 patients housed in two wards, siv huts built of dried bricks and some huts left in an abandoned village. Southward stretch the endless swamps where Livingstone died.

Pearl Harbor Is Today Home Base Of Mightiest Navy

Pearl Harbor, Dec. 7 (AP)—Four years ago the watery, chaotic graveyard of America's battle fleet; today the home base of the mightiest sea power in the world.

That is the story of Pearl Harbor on this fourth anniversary of the Japanese bid to sweep the United States from the Pacific. And soldiers, sailors, marines and civilians joined today in solemn tribute to those who died beneath the Japanese warlords' first blow.

Four years ago Japan's sneak raiders knifed in from the sea and across Oahu' islands towering Koolau Mountains to smash the U. S. warships lying at anchor in the peace of a balmy Sunday morning, and to spread death and destruction.

Out of that wreckage grew the power which drove the Japanese into defeat, and today the people of Hawaii gave thanks and honored those whose deaths have been avenged.

Virtually the only reminders today of the disaster that struck December 7, 1941, were the rusting, barnacled sections of unsalvaged ships in the harbor, and the rows of crosses gleaming white against the green hillside rising above the placid waters of the harbor.

Navy men and Islanders went about their business as usual today, with only simple ceremonies to mark the historic date.

The only strident voices raised on this fourth anniversary of the Pearl Harbor attack were the voices of peace—the voices of weary, lonely G.I.'s and sailors, shouting:

"Get us home! Get us home!"

Clear water is best for washing windows if they are not too dirty. The secret of sparkling clear windows is no soap. Soap merely streaks the glass and is hard to rub off. Spray water on, or wipe it on with a chamois, then dry windows with a lintless cloth.
